Which ports to visit

There are several ports in Costa Rica that are popular with cruise ships, including:

- Puerto Limon
- Puntarenas
- Quepos

- Golfito

Each port offers its own unique set of attractions, so it's important to do some research to decide which ones are right for you. For example, Puerto Limon is a great starting point for exploring the rainforest, while Puntarenas is known for its beautiful beaches.

What to see and do

There are many things to see and do in Costa Rica, including:

- Visiting the rainforest
- Going on a wildlife safari
- Exploring the beaches
- Learning about the local culture

No matter what your interests are, you're sure to find something to love in Costa Rica.

Where to stay

There are a variety of hotels and resorts to choose from in Costa Rica, depending on your budget and preferences. If you're looking for a luxurious experience, you might want to consider staying at one of the many all-inclusive resorts. For a more budget-friendly option, there are several hostels and guesthouses available.

Planning your trip

Planning a cruise to Costa Rica is easy. Here are a few tips to get you started:

- Book your cruise well in advance, especially if you're traveling during peak season.
- Research the different ports of call and decide which ones you want to visit.
- Plan your activities in advance so you can make the most of your time in port.
- Pack for the weather and bring plenty of sunscreen and insect repellent.

With a little planning, you can have the perfect cruise to Costa Rica. This beautiful country has something to offer everyone, so start planning your trip today!
