To be eligible for the program, applicants must:

- Be a spouse, common-law partner, or dependent child of a refugee who has been resettled in Quebec
- Be outside of Canada at the time of application
- Meet the basic eligibility requirements for Canadian immigration, including language proficiency, education, and work experience

The application process for the Federal Pnps Quebec Family Refugees program is similar to that of other Canadian immigration programs.

Applicants must first create an online profile and submit an Expression of Interest (EOI).

If their EOI is selected, they will be invited to apply for permanent residency.

The application process can take several months, and applicants are encouraged to seek professional advice from an immigration consultant.

Successful applicants will receive permanent resident status in Canada, which will allow them to live, work, and study in the country.

They will also be eligible for Canadian citizenship after three years of permanent residency.
