The Story of Goodbird

Goodbird was born in 1857 in a Lakota Sioux village near the Badlands of South Dakota. He lived a traditional life until the age of 25, when he was forced to leave his tribe and join the U.S. Army. Goodbird served as a scout during the Indian Wars and witnessed firsthand the devastating effects of white expansion on his people.

After the wars, Goodbird returned to his village, but he found that much had changed. His people had been forced onto reservations and were struggling to maintain their identity. Goodbird became a bridge between his people and the white world, working as an interpreter and sharing his culture with non-Natives.
