In this guide, we will cover everything you need to know about drawing anime and manga hair, from the basics of hair anatomy to advanced techniques for creating different hairstyles.

Hair Anatomy

The first step to drawing realistic anime and manga hair is to understand the basic anatomy of hair. Hair is made up of three main parts: the cuticle, the cortex, and the medulla.

- The cuticle is the outermost layer of hair. It is made up of scales that overlap like shingles on a roof.

- The cortex is the middle layer of hair. It is made up of long, fibrous proteins called keratin.
- The medulla is the innermost layer of hair. It is made up of loose, spongy cells.

The shape of hair is determined by the shape of the hair follicle. Hair follicles can be round, oval, or flat. The shape of the hair follicle also determines the direction of hair growth.

Drawing Basic Hair Shapes

Once you understand the basic anatomy of hair, you can start practicing drawing basic hair shapes. The most common hair shapes are:

- Round
- Oval
- Flat
- Triangular
- Heart-shaped

To draw a basic hair shape, start by drawing a circle or oval. Then, add a few lines to indicate the direction of hair growth. Finally, add some detail to the hair, such as highlights and shadows.

Drawing Different Hairstyles

Once you have mastered the basics of drawing hair, you can start experimenting with different hairstyles. Some of the most popular anime and manga hairstyles include:

- Long, flowing hair
- Short, spiky hair
- Ponytails
- Braids
- Buns

To draw a specific hairstyle, start by sketching out the basic shape of the hair. Then, add details such as highlights, shadows, and texture. You can also use reference photos to help you create realistic hairstyles.

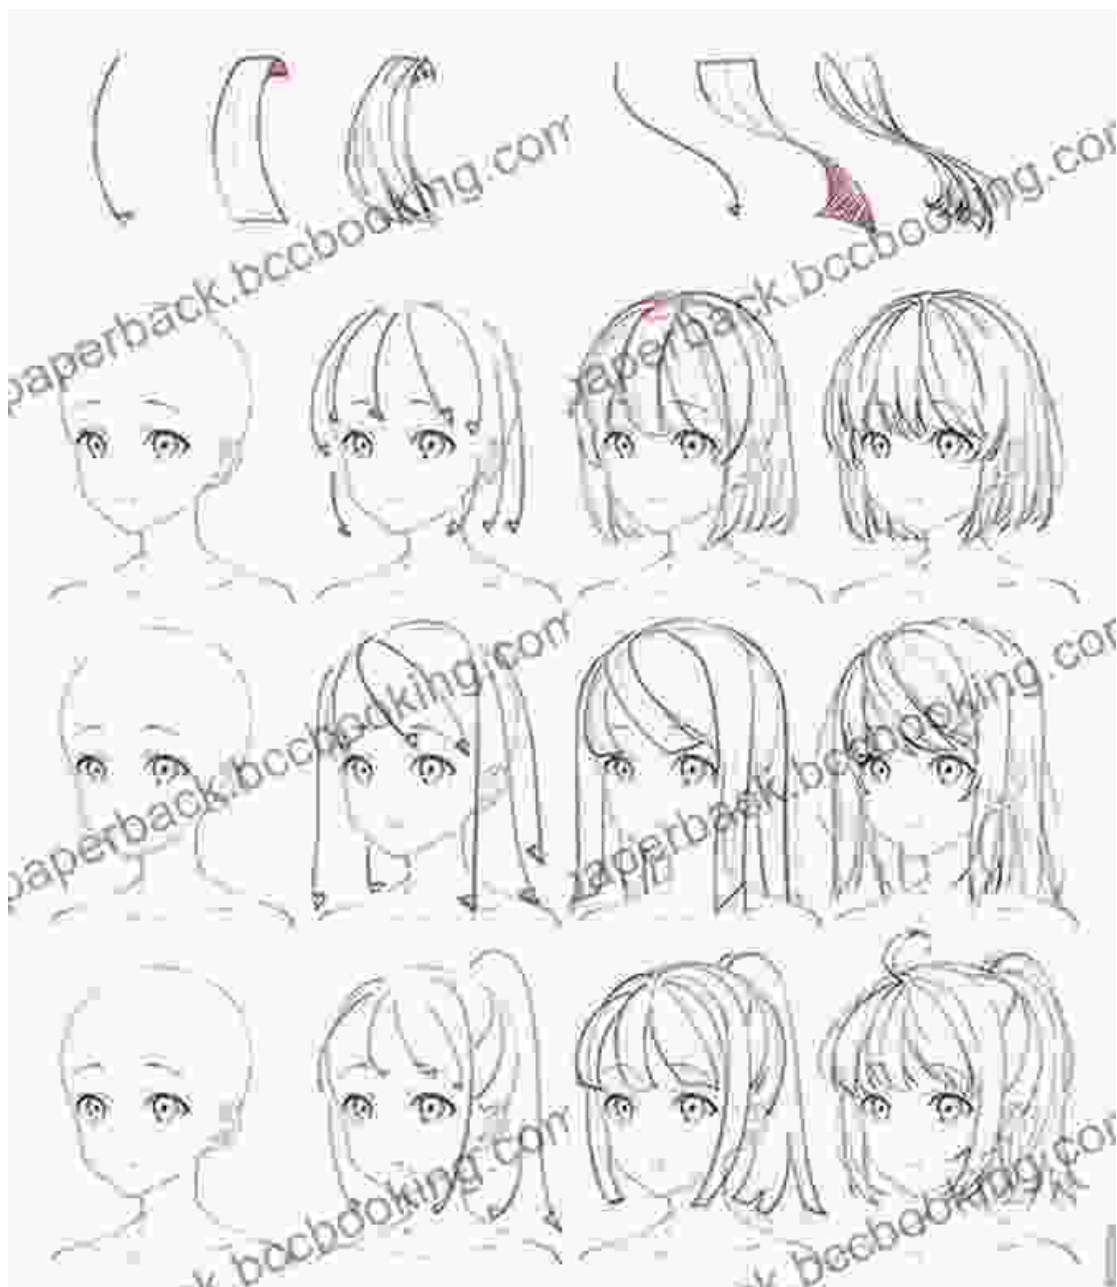

Coloring Hair

Coloring hair can be a great way to add personality to your anime and manga characters. The most common hair colors for anime and manga characters are black, brown, and blonde. However, you can also experiment with other colors, such as red, green, and blue.

To color hair, start by choosing a base color. Then, add highlights and shadows to create depth and dimension. You can also use different colors to create different effects, such as ombre hair or dip-dyed hair.
