One day, Rosetta's dream came true. The most popular girl in class, Sarah, invited Rosetta to sit by her at lunch. Rosetta was so happy! But her joy was short-lived. Sarah's friends were mean to Rosetta, and they made fun of her for being different.

Rosetta didn't know what to do. She wanted to be friends with Sarah, but she didn't want to be treated like an outcast. She felt torn between her dream and her self-respect.

In the end, Rosetta made a brave decision. She stood up for herself and told Sarah's friends that she wouldn't tolerate their bullying. Sarah was impressed by Rosetta's courage, and she defended Rosetta against her friends.

From that day on, Rosetta and Sarah became the best of friends. They learned to accept each other for who they were, and they taught their friends the importance of kindness and compassion.
