

Stanley: Africa's Greatest Explorer Tim Jeal

(By Tim Jeal)

Stanley: Africa's Greatest Explorer by Tim Jeal is a captivating biography of one of the most extraordinary figures in the history of exploration. Born in Wales in 1841, Henry Morton Stanley was a self-educated man who rose from humble beginnings to become one of the most famous explorers of his time.

Stanley's career was marked by a series of daring expeditions into the heart of Africa. In 1871, he was commissioned by the New York Herald to find the missing Scottish missionary David Livingstone. Stanley's successful search for Livingstone made him a household name and earned him the title of "Africa's Greatest Explorer."

Over the next two decades, Stanley led a series of expeditions that explored the Congo River basin, the Great Lakes region, and the Mountains of the Moon. He also played a key role in the establishment of the Congo Free State, a vast territory that was later annexed by Belgium.
